

Hepatitone – Protecting Your Liver

Protecting your liver is key to enjoying a healthy life. This vital organ is exposed to a whole lot of risks like viral attacks, overuse of alcohol, chemicals of medicines, and other conditions. The diseases that affect liver are:

- Viral hepatitis
- Aloholic hepatitis
- Fatty liver
- Early cirrhosis of liver

These diseases can seriously affect the functioning of your liver, even leading to serious, avoidable conditions.

Before we go on, we will talk briefly about the functions of liver. Its functions include:

- Storing of energy
- Storing of vitamins and minerals
- Protein synthesis (including vital blood-clotting factors)
- Destruction of worn out red-blood cells
- Bile production (needed for digestion of food)
- Metabolism of alcohol & medications
- Preventing germs entering the body via the food channe

You can see liver performs many vital functions. If liver is damaged, you will face life threatening conditions. In addition, most conditions that affect liver won't show up until it is too late. So it is necessary that you take adequate care for your liver.

Liver has a unique regenerating capacity, not found for most other parts or organs of the body. However, over-burdening the liver can lead to degeneration of this vital organ.

Viral hepatitis or jaundice is a serious condition, which directly affects the liver.
